Judgment: 14 June 2007

JUDGMENT OF JUDGE C M SHAW

[1] In a minute on 12 June 2007 I made timetable orders for the progress of this case to a fixture. In the course of that minute a suppression order was made in the following terms.

[2] There is a suppression order made prohibiting the publication of the plaintiff's name and any details which might lead to her identification. On the basis of the medical and other evidence filed on behalf of the plaintiff and the nature of the allegations in the statement of problem, I am satisfied that at this stage her private interests outweigh the public interest in knowing her identity at least until the case has been decided.
